RE: Resource Recovery Certification RR 0419

Dear Mr. Lanzafame:

On May 24, 2001, the Missouri Department of Natural Resources' Hazardous Waste Program, (HWP), Permits Section sent the enclosed letter and a Resource Recovery application for completion. Doe Run's resource recovery certification expired on November 3, 2001. Please be advised that your certification, RR0419, is no longer valid, therefore, Doe Run may not accept or process hazardous waste until a new certification is issued. Resource recovery operation without certification is a violation of state law, Section 260.410 RSMo, and subject to enforcement action.

Doe Run was required per condition 6 of the previous resource recovery certification and 10 CSR 25-9.020(3)(D) to re-apply 90 days in advance of expiration. Doe Run submitted an application to the department on November 2, 2001. The Hazardous Waste Management Regulations require the Department of Natural Resources to act within 90 days upon receipt of a complete application. The department reviews applications in accordance with the date of receipt and therefore cannot guarantee a decision any sooner than 90 days after receipt.

If you have any questions regarding this expiration notification, please contact Mr. Daniel A. Carey, Environmental Engineer, at (573) 751-3553.

Sincerely,

HAZARDOUS WASTE PROGRAM

RE: The Doe Run Company
Resource Recovery Certification RR0419
Classification – R2

Dear Mr. Lanzafame:

Your resource recovery certification, RR0419, is due to expire on November 3, 2001. To renew your resource recovery certification you must submit a new application. Please do not reference previous submittals. This information should be current and anticipated activities for the next two years. Enclosed is an application along with the appropriate regulations for your convenience. Please be aware that an application fee for resource recovery of only off-site hazardous wastes will require a certification (or recertification) application fee of $1000. This must be submitted with the renewal application. The Hazardous Waste Program will also be billing for application review cost incurred during this process in accordance with the revised statute at 260.395.14, RSMo.

Please note that a new amendment, 10 CSR 25-9.020(2), exempt resource recovery facilities, was adopted and became effective on August 28, 1994. This new amendment may exempt the recycling of hazardous waste generated from a process or operation if it meets the stipulated requirements. It should also be noted, if your resource recovery process or operation qualifies for the exemption, the facility is required to notify the department of its activities as per 10 CSR 25-9.020(2)B.

Please submit your application as soon as possible. The Hazardous Waste Management Regulations, 10 CSR 25-9.020(3)(D), require the Department of Natural Resources to act within ninety (90) days upon receipt of a complete application. Since your certification is due to expire on November 3, 2001, we request your prompt action
